

End it

I would not mind to end my life, if everyone supported my decision. I don't want to live anymore, but I don't want to hurt anyone so I remain alive and tortured in this agonizing world of black pain. The stench is so bad, vomit looks like a flower compared to the holes I have been trapped in for days on end. Blood and gore are like magic rainbows compared to the empty void of nothingness and endless. In all this despair I get trapped in.
